

National Cancer Institute FY 2017 Annual Plan and Budget Proposal

The National Cancer Institute (NCI) has submitted its Annual Plan and Budget Proposal for Fiscal Year 2017 to the President and published it for consideration by Congress and the public.

The NCI requests a funding increase of 7 percent over the FY 2016 funding allocation. The proposal also asks Congress to consider annual appropriation increases of 7 percent to the NCI over the next 10 years. The NCI proposal states that long-term commitment would provide it with the opportunity to make the most progress in cancer research.

The NCI is also publishing a series of posts on the online NCI Cancer Currents blog, in which NCI scientific leaders will discuss the research areas highlighted in the FY 2017 Annual Plan and Budget Proposal. These will describe how greater Congressional funding for NCI research can lead to dramatic gains in prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of cancer.

The NCI FY 2017 Annual Plan and Budget Proposal and related information is available online at www.cancer.gov/